Eliminate the complexity of managing equipment at multiple job sites

With multiple projects operating under tight deadlines and budgets, the need to track and manage equipment is a necessity. Job sites, equipment facilities and vendors must communicate with consistency and accuracy in order to control costs and maximize efficiency.

Job Site Portal's real-time visibility streamlines the equipment management process. Whether you're tracking owned equipment or supplier equipment, Job Site Portal delivers instant access to critical information.
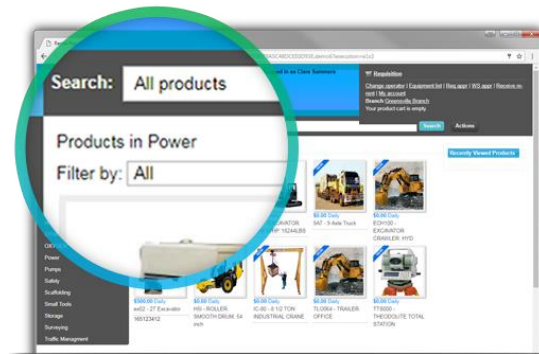

Get information on costs and re-rent cost accruals

Deliver information on cost, margin and spend

Simple interface to request pick-up and confirm deliveries

Building a seamless workflow around equipment management

Job Site Portal is designed to allow those at the job site to easily requisition equipment and track its status.

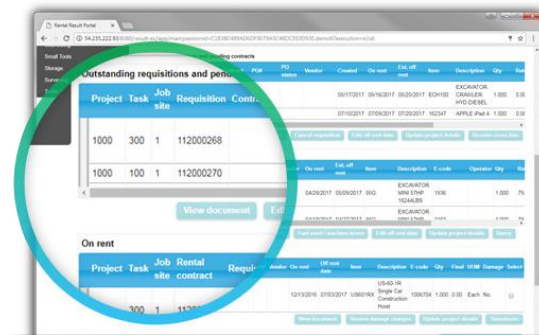

Search for what you need

Minimize the costly risk of receiving the wrong equipment. Job sites can search for equipment from a custom catalog, allowing them to request the right equipment every time.

Create requisitions easily

The requisition form allows users to quickly input quantity, required date, project and task code. Then, the equipment facility can approve or reject the request. This process eliminates the time-consuming phone calls needed to get equipment requirements.

Know what's out there

Job Site Portal keeps everyone informed of outstanding requisitions, on rent and returned equipment. Now job sites are always aware of the status of their orders.

Get real-time information for reporting when you need it

Job Site Portal's seamless integration with RentalResult means you get the most accurate data in real-time.

Deliver critical information on cost, margin and spend based on project and task code. You don't have to wait until the end of the month, either. You can set it up for daily or weekly updates.

Project codes are captured in Job Site Portal, and can be updated if necessary. This ensures that accruals and charges end up in the right place, making budget management a lot less stressful.
